DRIVEN TO BURGLARY

By the Yost Law But "Wet Goods" Are Not Found in Railroad Station.

BELMONT, Feb. 6.—West Virginia has been made so dry by the Yost prohibition law and its interpretations by various courts that thirty persons are now resorting to burglary in order to "wet their whistles." Expecting to stock up from a large quantity of liquor stored in the two express offices at Belmont, midnight burglars broke into them only to find that the liquors had been returned to shippers outside the state the day before, the result of a court injunction.

PAATHOTISM.
(Correspondence of Associated Press.)
LONDON, Feb. 6.—The Belgians who remained at home and the Belgians who fled to England have for some time been carrying on a discussion in L'Independence Belge (now published in London) as to which better served their country. The editor has now declared that the columns of his paper are closed to such letters since they seem to him to tend to cause a division of patriotic sentiment that is not wholesome.

HOSPITAL TRAIN.

ROTTERDAM, Feb. 6.—A firm of Berlin bankers has presented to the crown prince a completely outfitted hospital train of thirty-six cars. It cost $25,000 and will be used for the wounded from the crown prince's army.

HERE'S MORGAN TELLING COMMISSION HE KNOWS LITTLE OF CONDITIONS OF LABOR

J. Pierpont Morgan testifying before industrial relations commission in New York.

John Pierpont Morgan, director of industrial and transportation companies, whose stock and bond indebtedness falls just short of two and one-half billion dollars, and the geographical scope of whose operations extends from the eastern boundaries of Europe to the western shores of the United States, testifying before the industrial relations commission in New York declared that he knew very little of the conditions of labor; that he has no time for social problems and no opinion as to child labor, working days or the income of workmen.

MONEY SQUANDERED
BY WEST UNION MAN

Williams before He Dies Gets away with Big Amount in Two Weeks.

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 6.—Investigations made by Detective Lieutenants Bradley and Hogan, at the instance of A. P. McCue, prosecuting attorney of West Union, W. Va., show that S. I. Williams, a wealthy oil well owner, of that place, before ending his life with gas in a lodging house at 306 Hanover street on January 28, squandered between $2,000 and $3,000. He was found dead by Mrs. Charlotte Webster, who conducts the lodging house. James J. Edward Granger, of the Southern district, gave a certificate of death.

Believing that Williams had not with foul play, I. W. Chapman, his father-in-law, after receiving word from Marshall Carter of his death, communicated with Prosecutor McCue, and asked that an investigation be made. This was done and, according to the official report of the detective lieutenants, which was sent to West Union yesterday, Williams, it is stated, had been drinking heavily while here, spent much of his time in cheap lodging houses along the waterfront, and frequently gave large sums of money and checks to the habitués of these places. A note found by the detectives, undated and unsigned, clinches the suicide theory. It reads:

"Little—My spirit will haunt you and your next man. Be true to Stuart."

Had Big Sum of Money.
The police are now trying to learn who Little and Stuart are. It is believed Little is his wife. He had four children. Williams left his home in West Union about the middle of January, and had in his possession a large sum of money, believed to be between $2,000 and $3,000. He was supposed to be on a business trip East. In Cumberland,

HATFIELD IS OPPOSED TO PAYING INTEREST

On Old Virginia Debt and Believes State Should Have Still More Credits.

CHARLESTON, Feb. 6.—Governor Hatfield Friday morning sent to the legislature a special message on the Virginia debt matter now pending in the United States Supreme Court, setting forth West Virginia's position in the controversy, of what has been gained by being permitted to file additional evidence, thus reducing the amount held to be due by Master Littlefield, but the governor also contends that all the credit to which West Virginia is entitled has not been given by the master in his report to the supreme court. He expressed the belief that the citizens of West Virginia would be willing to meet any legal obligation, but might not be willing to pay interest as asked by Virginia on obligations made by Virginia and over which West Virginia has never had control and no means of knowing the holders of bonds or what they were, and therefore is unable to retire them. The Senate by a vote of 15 to 9 de-

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional treatment. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running ear, or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; otherwise cases of deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous lining.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for catalogue, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

HIGH WAGES

Cause Dock Laborers in London to Drink and Chaos Exists as a Result.

(Correspondence of Associated Press.)
LONDON, Feb. 6.—The newspaper charge that chaos exists at the London docks, with the implication that high wages have caused the dock laborers to drink instead of work, is denied by J. G. Broadbank, chairman of the dock and warehouse committee of the port of London authority.

Mr. Broadbank admits that the congestion has at times been severe since the outbreak of the war, but the improvement toward normal conditions is rapid and a few weeks ought to see the wharves fairly well cleared. The real trouble, he says, is due to the fact that the needs of the army and navy come before those of the merchants. Military and naval shipments are emphasized by the government. The war called away large numbers of reservists from the docks, there are 6,000 men employed this month as against 4,000 at the same time last year. In addition, the London port authorities have had to send something like 1,000 trained stevedores to French ports, particularly Havre, to help handle the military shipping there.

To mention some of the additional burdens that war has thrown upon the port of London, the year's sugar supply purchased by the government has to come through here; about 350 army transports ply in and out of the Thames; merchant ships are diverted to London which ordinarily are berthed in other ports now closed for naval reasons; and all of the various supplies such as Australian wool, lately held up by the exploits of the Emden, are beginning to arrive.

MEAT

Supply of Germany is Not Seriously Affected by European War Up to Present.

(Correspondence of Associated Press.)
LONDON, Feb. 6.—An authority on the frozen meat trade is of the opinion that up to the present Germany's meat supply has not been seriously affected by the war, but as in all the other belligerent nations, economy there in this respect will be necessary. Of the general effects of the war on European meat supplies, he says:

"In France the hostile occupation of considerable tracts of territory has certainly tended to curtail the quantity of meat available, but the remaining stocks undoubtedly have provided disproportionately heavy killings, otherwise prices would have advanced more than has been the case. Probably the larger proportion of the 2,000,000 head of cattle in the eastern provinces, available in July last, are permanently lost to France, as meat producers. On the other hand, France having removed import duties and restrictions, has already imported large quantities of frozen meat, and has arranged for still larger imports in the near future. This change of policy is so marked, and its effect likely to be so far-reaching, that it can hardly fail to influence materially the course of the whole frozen meat trade for some time to come. Formerly France kept out frozen meat to protect her farmers. Now that country is admitting frozen meat, not only to supply military requirements, but also to protect her flocks and herds from undue depletion."

"In Germany, the pressure of demand for army requirements has probably been met thus far from domestic sources, supplemented by capture from France and Belgium, and importation from small neighboring states."
